

Fall 2009 - Ball State University's Saturday Children's Art Classes

This semester we will explore the theme of Art Tells a Story. Students will be learning about the ways that art and visual images have been used to describe and document events and changes as they occurred. The story of a revolution, the story of the creation of a artwork large enough to cover a canyon, and the story of the changes in an artist's life, are among some of the fascinating images that will be shown. A wide variety of both two- and three-dimensional art-making techniques will be explored. (website: www.bsu.edu/art/)

Classes are held on seven (7) Saturday mornings, 9:30 – 11:30 a.m., Oct. 3 – Nov. 21 (No class on Oct. 24) in the classrooms of the Art & Journalism Building. They are open to any child, grades 1-6. Each class is limited to 20 students. Spaces are filled upon receipt of payment with a completed registration form.
