The Marina E. Axeen Scholarship Awards
For Educational Technology Programs

As a result of the generous bequest of Marina E. Axeen, a scholarship Awards program has been established. Awards of $300 or more are available to Ball State students toward the payment of tuition for the academic year.

Funds for these awards are made available through the University Development and the Ball State University Foundation, and are administered by the office of Scholarship and Financial Aid in conjunction with the Department of Educational Studies. This scholarship program was established to attract qualified students to the Educational Technology academic programs.

ELIGIBILITY

Candidates must submit two acceptable letters of reference from teachers, administrators, or others who are qualified to attest to the candidate's academic and personal qualifications and are outside of the BSU EdTec faculty. Applicants for the Axeen Scholarship must meet the standards of Ball State with respect to admissions, residence, scholastic ratio and scholastic standards. Scholarships will be awarded to students without regard to sex, race, age, national origin, or ethnic background.

Recipients must be pursuing undergraduate Educational Technology Programs, including the Computer Education License or Minor in Educational Technology at Ball State University. The recipients shall have displayed personal qualities of character, scholarship, and leadership that in the opinion of the award committee are deemed necessary for success as a student. The award is not restricted to candidates with financial need.

Application and Selection Procedures Throughout the Year

An application form should be completed and submitted by Tuesday, April 1st by 5:00pm

to: dsharris@bsu.edu
