Stephen Campbell is Assistant Professor of Music (Trumpet) at Ball State University. Prior to his appointment, Stephen was a professional musician based in Cincinnati, OH since 2005. After finishing undergraduate and graduate studies at Stephen F. Austin State University, Stephen moved to Cincinnati to complete a Doctor of Musical Arts degree from CCM.

Stephen is the principal trumpeter of the Lexington Philharmonic Orchestra, Lexington, KY; associate principal trumpet of the West Virginia Symphony Orchestra, Charleston, WV; and principal trumpet of the Muncie Symphony Orchestra, Muncie, IN. In addition to his duties in these orchestras, Stephen is often called upon to perform as an additional or substitute musician with ensembles including the Cincinnati Symphony and Pops Orchestras, Cincinnati Chamber Orchestra, and the Blue Ash Montgomery Orchestra, among others. Stephen also participates in chamber music with various ensembles.

In addition to his active role as a professional musician, Stephen was previously visiting professor of music at Ball State University, Muncie, IN; Stephen F. Austin State University in Nacogdoches, TX; and adjunct instructor at Sinclair Community College, Dayton, OH. Stephen also served as a private instructor for the Bellbrook Public Schools, Bellbrook, OH, and Scott County Schools, Scott County, KY. Several of his private students have experienced success in state competition, solo contests, and have performed with him in professional orchestras

American conductor Gregory Robbins is active as a performer, educator, and arts advocate. He has held positions such as associate conductor of the Greater Bridgeport Symphony, director of orchestral programs at Idyllwild Arts Academy, and music director of the Young Artists Philharmonic, a regional youth orchestra based in Greenwich, CT. In 2022 he joined the faculty of Ball State University's School of Music as interim director of orchestras. His credits in the world of popular music and film include conducting the debut album of the New York based big band Assembly of Shadows, which received several GRAMMY nominations in 2021. He was also the conducting coach for Gael Garcia Bernal, star of Amazon's hit series "Mozart in the Jungle."

Carlos Hernandez was born and raised in Miami, FL. His passion for conducting sparked in his early teens and he has been involved in leading all types of ensembles since. Carlos is the Principal Conductor of the East Central Indiana Chamber Orchestra and was recently appointed Assistant Conductor of the Indianapolis Opera. Carlos has had the opportunity to work in his community, nationally and internationally in music education & performance settings. Carlos has already received three degrees in music, all with an emphasis in conducting and is currently pursuing his Doctoral studies in Orchestral Conducting with a secondary emphasis in Music Entrepreneurship at Ball State University in Muncie, Indiana. At Ball State, he works with numerous performing groups and assists with the East Central Indiana Youth Symphony.
